MRS. HARDING today gave evidence of her approval of the American Forestry Association's program for planting trees as a memorial to the soldiers who fell in the great war. Accompanied by Miss Laura Harlan, she visited the Lincoln Memorial this morning and took part in the ceremony attending the planting of two American elms at the head of one of the approaches to the beautiful building.

This afternoon Mrs. Harding will receive a number of callers by appointment.

MISS ALICE LOUISE WILLIAMS, of Georgia, whose stories and folk songs of the old Southern negro delighted the guests of Mrs. Joseph Irwin France at her luncheon for Mrs. Coolidge on Thursday, has invited a large number of convalescent soldiers from the Walter Reed Hospital to the armistice week recital she is giving on Wednesday evening at Wardman Park Hotel.

Miss Williams will be assisted by Mrs. Edythe Marmion Brosius, harpist; Miss Sanford Mason Norris, violinist, and H. LeRoy Lewis, baritone. She—Miss Williams—has twice given recitals at the White House, once during President Taft's Administration and again while Woodrow Wilson was President.

THE program on Wednesday is under the patronage of Mrs. Coolidge, Lady Geddes, the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Wallace, the Secretary Labor and Mrs. Davis, the Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. J. Mayhew Wainwright, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. J. A. Lejeune, Admiral and Mrs. W. S. Benson, Senator and Mrs. Oscar Underwood, Senator and Mrs. Joseph Irwin France, Senator and Mrs. Carter Glass, Senator and Mrs. Edwin F. Broussard, Senator and Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, Senator and Mrs. Charles A. Culberson, Senator and Mrs. Selden H. Spencer, Senator and Mrs. Richard P. Ernst, Senator and Mrs. Morris Sheppard, Senator and Mrs. Townsend, Senator Samuel Shortridge, Senator Kenneth McCumber, Senator Albert Cummins and the Misses Cummins, Brig. Gen. C. F. McGlacklin, commandant of the War College, and Mrs. McGlacklin; Brig. Gen. and Mrs. A. W. Brewster, Col. and Mrs. George S. Simonds, Col. and Mrs. S. E. Vestal, Col. and Mrs. Harrison Jackson Price, Col. and Mrs. W. H. Naylor, Col. and Mrs. Lawrence B. Simonds, Col. and Mrs. Cooles, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. C. W. Weeks, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Parker, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Parker Hitts, Captain Dayton, U. S. N. commandant of the navy yard, and Mrs. Dayton, and Capt. Raby, U. S. N., and Mrs. Raby.

The Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge expect to go to Philadelphia early next week for a brief visit. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are making no dinner engagements until after November 15.

Luncheon at British Embassy.

The British Ambassador and Lady Geddes had guests for lunch today. The company included Rear Admiral Sir A. E. M. Chatfield, R. N., and Lady Chatfield, Sir Harold Styles, Mr. and Mrs. Loring Christie, Capt. B. S. Donville, G. S. Bajpai, G. L. Corbett, Hugh Tennant and Capt. Clarence J. Henry, of the embassy staff.

The Italian ambassador, Senator Rolando Ricci, and the other members of the Italian delegation to the peace conference, are spending today in Philadelphia, where General Diaz, commander-in-chief of the Italian armies, is being feted. They are expected in Washington tomorrow.

Mrs. Marshall Field will entertain a company of thirty-six guests at dinner tonight in honor of Admiral of the Fleet Lord Beatty and Lady Beatty, who are visiting her while in Washington. They returned today from Kansas City.

Dr. Francisco A. Zaldivar Lima has left San Salvador for Washington as a representative of the state of Salvador. Dr. Zaldivar Lima is the youngest son of former President Rafael Zaldivar of Salvador, whose elder son, Dr. Rafael Zaldivar, was a minister of Salvador in Washington.

Overseas Writers, the organization of Washington newspaper correspondents and authors who have had professional service abroad was host today at a luncheon at the Shoreham in honor of foreign colleagues here for the armistice conference. In addition to the forty members of Overseas Writers, there were nearly fifty journalists from other countries at the table.

Richard V. Oulahan, chairman of the organization, presided, and was assisted in welcoming the guests of honor by the executive committee including Mark Sullivan, Frederic William Wile, David Lawrence, Oliver Owen Kuhn and Frank J. Taylor.

Among those present were Col. Charles A. Court, Repington, and H. Wickham Steed, of England; M. Philippe Millet, of France; P. K. Chu, of China; A. Maurice Low, of England; Mr. V. Barsini, of Italy; M. Geraud ("Petinax"), of France; Mr. Stevenson, of Canada; Mr. Carman, of Canada; Mr. Johnston, of Canada; Mr. Watanabe, of Japan; Mr. Yamakawa, of Japan; Mr. Laumonier, of France; Mr. Ito, of Japan; Mr. Ishida, of Japan; Mr. Hsu, of China; Mr. Lewis, of England; Mr. Takata, of Japan; Mr. Nevins, of England; Mr. Kamio, of Japan; Mr. Komatsu, of Japan; Mr. Sato, of Japan; Mr. Wells, of England; Mr. Pfeffer, of Japan; Mr. Ogata, of Japan; Mr. Suzuki, of Japan; Mr. Dol, of Japan; Mr. Fujita, of Japan; Mr. Fuwa, of Japan; Mr. Hamilton, of Australia; Mr. Mower, of France; and Mr. O'Leary, of Canada. Other guests of honor were Philip Patchin and Henry Suydam, of the press section of the State Department, and Robert Barry, chairman of the standing committee of correspondents in Congress.

Miss Blodgett Weds.

St. John's Church was the scene today of one of the most interesting weddings of the season. The marriage of Miss Mona Peck Blodgett, daughter of Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett, and Capt. David St. Pierre Galliard was solemnized.

The Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith,

MME. SZE.

Wife of the Chinese minister, who will be an important figure in the social world while the conference is on.

former rector of St. John's, who recently retired from the ministry, performed the ceremony, coming from Ipswich, Mass., his present home, for the occasion.

White roses and white chrysanthemums intermingling with green were the decorations used in the chancel, and tall standards tied with huge chrysanthemums marked the pews reserved for the family.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Delos A. Blodgett, Jr., wore an exquisite costume of all-over rose point lace. The gown was cut on straight lines, with square neck and elbow sleeves, a girdle of pearls encircling the waist. A long scarf of rose point lace formed the train, being attached to the shoulders and hanging several yards on the floor.

The veil of tulle was arranged very simply, fitting close to the head, and a wreath of orange blossoms extended across the forehead. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Henry Parsons Erwin, sister of the bride, who was matron of honor, and Miss Myrtle Porcher, the maid-of-honor, were dressed alike in handsome gowns of wisteria chiffon velvet, with draperies of cobweb lace. The lace was used to form the flowing sleeves, and was caught to the skirt with sprays of flowers of satin and velvet in shades of wisteria.

Their large picture hats were fashioned of wisteria-colored tulle, with brims of chiffon velvet of a beautiful stone blue, and they carried orchids and Ward roses.

The bridesmaids, who were Miss Marion Drain, Miss Katherine Marriott, Miss Teresa Hall, and Miss Eleanor Pitts, of New York, wore gowns of chiffon velvet in shades of stone blue, with draperies of cobweb lace, fashioned like those of Mrs. Erwin and Miss Porcher. In their hats, which were the same model, the colors of wisteria and blue were transposed. They carried Ward roses and blue delphinium.

At the wedding breakfast, which was held at the home of the bride's mother in Sixteenth street, Mrs. Blodgett received the guests in the drawing room wearing a handsome gown of white velvet embroidered in seed pearls and a large white hat trimmed in white plumes.

Mrs. David du B. Galliard, mother of the bridegroom, who assisted in receiving, wore a gown of black Spanish lace, and black hat trimmed in plumes. American Beauty roses decorated the drawing room and library, and in the music room, long stemmed pink roses were used. A stringed orchestra played behind a screen.

Captain Galliard and his bride left during the afternoon for a honeymoon trip which will last several months. They will go first to California and thence to Cuba, Panama, and other Southern points. On their return to Washington they will make their home in Mrs. Galliard's apartment in the St. Nicholas. Mrs. Galliard will spend the winter in Florida.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Delos Blodgett, Jr., and Mrs. Samuel H. Peck, of Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Blodgett, brother-in-law and sister-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lowe, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Quaintance, all of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hadley, of New York.

Miss Margaret Harding and Miss Alice Harding will entertain at dinner this evening at their home in Nine.
